A. Summer Winter School

The CEPT SUMMER WINTER SCHOOL (SWS) programs emerge from an acknowledgement of the value of learning from embodied experience. Planned as structured study courses, they hinge on the idea that the challenge of being in a new environment and actual on-site observations contribute to a great degree to the tacit learning processes.

The Summer Winter Schools (SWS) at CEPT University are opportunities for students to gain valuable learning experience that go far beyond the structured classrooms. Along with providing students and faculty an innovative and experimental learning teaching landscape, the SWS concept provides students an opportunity to learn by being immersed in diverse habitats. The habitats will be studied from a wide range of perspectives from infrastructure planning, to construction detail to spatial constructs.

Wide range of participation of students and professionals from varied backgrounds make the SWS courses more dynamic and rich multi-cultural learning environments.

The courses for the Summer School will be conducted in the month of May and June with duration of about 7 weeks. The courses for Winter School will be conducted during the month of December. The exact dates depend on the academic calendar of CEPT University and regular announcements will be posted on the website along with the required specific details.

Objectives

These programs differ from the regular semester ones in terms of structure, approach and content. The key words that capture the spirit of SWS are experimental, variety and innovation. They explore emerging areas, provide space to test new ideas and methods, facilitate in situ experience, help understand critical sites and situations, and create opportunities to learn by making. The courses in SWS are intense and are for a short period of two to four weeks.

Orientation

The hallmark of the SWS is their enriching variety. They achieve it by offering courses that cover a wide range of topics and issues and creating a diverse learning group by inviting students from different schools to apply for the courses. The intellectual environment is also enriched by bringing potential professionals, academicians, artists and other experts from across the country and abroad to teach. To attract more resource people from outside and make it convenient for them, the SWS encourages CEPT faculty to host courses with them. In such cases, the university teaching staffs often take a good part of the responsibility to administer the courses.

Courses

Faculties' help students understand the nature and orientation of the courses and enable them to make a well-informed choice. To achieve this, they explicitly state the objectives, mode of teaching or working, and learning outcomes of the courses up front. In the previous SWS, students have favored sessions such as workshops, activities that are installation oriented and require travel, and opportunities that provide acquisition of specific skills.

In coming years, this pallet would be expanded by offering more courses, that intellectually stimulates, involve multi-sensorial learning, focuses on specialized process and skill impartation. The SWS are unique opportunities to expand horizon of learning, interact with a large group of enthusiastic and talented students, practitioners and academicians, and showcase CEPT academic initiatives. Open to students from varied backgrounds, the courses become dynamic and rich multi-cultural learning environments. In years to come, the programs would explore new avenues and grow in strength.
